

Note to Parent: Don't Forget Travel Protection!

Being a parent can be stressful, especially when your child ventures out on their own. Although you may not be accompanying your child on their trip, it can be beneficial to protect their journey with a student travel protection plan.

Travel Mishap Examples Which situations might apply to your student?

- The weather caused an overnight flight delay on the way to the final destination. Student Travel Protection may reimburse expenses paid to purchase meals and a hotel room near the airport for the night.
- A family member scheduled to travel with your student becomes sick with a long-term illness and the future is unknown. Student Travel Protection can reimburse your student's insured nonrefundable, pre-paid trip costs.
- The airline lost your student's baggage. Student Travel Protection can cover necessities like clothing and toiletries until he or she is reunited with their bags.
- Your child checks his or her instrument which gets damaged. We can help cover the cost to repair or replace their instrument.
- Your child just got the schedule for sports tryouts, and if they don't attend, they'll miss the season. The tryout dates start at the end of April and conflict with the dates of their mid-May trip. Student Travel Protection offers an optional benefit that could allow you to cancel your student's trip for any reason.
- There is a death in the family and you need to get your child home as soon as possible. Student Travel Protection can reimburse you for their unused arrangements, as well as additional transportation expenses to get them back to their return destination.
- Your child gets into an argument with their friend and doesn't want to go on the trip next month anymore. Student Travel Protection offers an optional benefit that could allow you to cancel his or her trip for any reason.
- Your child develops an ear infection after swimming and needs antibiotics. Student Travel Protection can cover the cost of prescription drugs.

24/7 Non-Insurance Assistance Services

- Your child is shopping with friends when their wallet with credit cards is stolen. The assistance services help them report the theft and to cancel and replace the credit cards.
- Your child misplaced their eyeglasses. The assistance services can cover eyeglass replacement.
- The panic sets in when your child lost their important prescription drug. These services provide assistance to replace the medication.
